

Flakete yawns!

Dow blasted

by VIVIAN WISEACRE

Diana Obnoxious, Chairman of the Association at McGill to End the War in Vietnam, issued a press release here yesterday.

Miss Obnoxious revealed that Dow Chemical (the US controlled company which manufactures deadly napalm used by invading American troops murdering Vietnamese women and children with the blessings of Dean Rusk, Lyndon B. Johnson and Mark Wilsin's father) will be coming on the campus tomorrow to seek more recruits.

The anti-war group's communiqué stated that it will be the the Association's plan to "thwart the recruiting by whatever means are necessary" There will be an organizational meeting for those in the know at they-know-where at 11.30 tonight. Other members of the Association and SDU, which is co-sponsoring the festivities, will form at the Union tomorrow at 1 pm for a march to and violence at the Placement Service.

"We do not expect any opposition", said Miss Obnoxious, "but just in case we have arranged to borrow the baseball bats used by UGEQ in front of the US Consulate last November."

When asked if there would be a repeat of the red paint incidents the anti-war leader shrugged, "Maybe we will use blue this time. That's a question for the Paint Committee any way."

"We must confront the campus," continued Obnoxious, with the moral and ethical problems that should really mean something to us."

"Our fight for Freedom of Speech will not end until we can prevent these fascists from speaking on campus."

In an obvious reference to the recent rigged referendum on campus recruiting, the Association statement said "If they can rig things in Saigon and in the heart of Boston, why can't they do it at McGill."

Barry Craggy, former Acting Chairman of the group, said he did not believe the results were truly representative of campus opinion in as much as "the Daily Worker has only had six months to educate the campus and too many people voted any-

(Continued on page 4)

John Flakete, crusading columnist of the McGill Daily Worker, yawned last night according to his lawyer, Clod Armon Shepherd.

In a tersely-worded statement, Shepherd declared, "At approximately 11:55 pm John Flakete yawned. This unfortunate occurrence is obviously the result of the intense and unjust pressure placed on him by the intense and unjust University Administration."

Flakete, who has been appearing before the Senate Disciplinary Committee on the ridiculous charge of publishing obscenities revealed through Shepherd that he plans to petition the United Nations Human Rights Commission, for a writ of Habeas Delecti Elocution and Semper Ubi Sub Ubi to remove the case from the Senate jurisdiction.

Shepherd, whose earlier writs had been dismissed in Québec courts by Justice Ledger Demain (Demain's wife is in Dr. Robertson's sister-in-law's garden club) expressed optimism at the new move. He summed up the case by saying "If someone yawns in your ear, is it his fault or is it the fault of the idiot who greased the brakes."

At an emergency Sheep Demanding Unanimity (SDU) central committee meeting, chairman Stan Blackanwhite announced that he and English Professor John Shingles were setting up a "John Flakete Nodol Fund." (Contributions may be sent to 3477)

"We must let the Administration know that SDU cares when John Flakete yawns."

Blackanwhite went on to explain that SDU plans around-the-clock demonstrations until the Flakete case is dropped. "Of course it will take time to change the wording on our placards and mix more red paint, but we'll be ready," concluded SDU organizer Harry Meddle of Ottawa.

Although Blackanwhite declined to reveal details, informed sources indicated that the demonstration will be a yawn-in in the washroom on the 5th floor of the Administration building Thursday at 1 pm.

Students' Society President Peter G.M. Waffle declined to discuss the situation in a telephone non-interview. "Call me next week" said Waffle.

Dr. H. Locke Robertson, who hasn't done anything right in years refused comment saying "I only talk to Public Address."

In other Flakete-related actions, members of the faculty issued a statement denouncing Disciplinary Committee Chairman Perry Hatchelman and Arts & Science Dean H.D. Words for "their obvious prejudices and fascist tendencies." The four Professors also accused the Committee of "getting its orders by submarine at Redpath Crescent."

In answering the charges, Hatchelman and Words stated

(Continued on page 5)

Undemocratic council ignores "the people"

Students' Council maintained its policy of keeping its head buried in the sand and refused to sanction a demonstration in protest of the on-campus interviews to be held tomorrow by Dow Chemical.

The council spent nearly three hours debating the topic but never really came to grips with the issue. The council's decision was immediately attacked by the new executive-elect which was observing the meeting. Its prepared statement called upon "students to show their distaste with an inhumane war." Mr. Hjalhymanfoster called upon students to "partake in the SDU-planned demonstration since council has neglected its duty to the campus by not sponsoring one of its own."

The motion last night called for Students' Council "to plan a demonstration to protest the recruitment by Dow Chemical at McGill." The motion was moved by Julius Grommet (Arts and Science) and seconded by Bill Leninhum (Graduate Studies). It was defeated 16-4.

Grommet, in a fiery speech, called upon council to take action and show its distaste with the Viet-Nam war. "We must follow the dictates of the Nuremberg trials and rid our campus of the war companies."

Leninhum took to task those who felt the demonstration should not be held because of campus support for open recruiting. "No one is forcing any student to demonstrate but those who wish to should be given every opportunity" he said.

Pete G.M. Waffle gave up the chair to Danny Trevictim in order

(Continued on page 3)

DEMONSTRATION

The Sheep Demanding Unanimity (SDU) will sponsor a demonstration on the lower campus starting at 1 pm tomorrow to protest the recruiting activities of Dow Chemical on campus.

The following are asked to meet with co-ordinators Stan Blackanwhite and Barry Craggy at 12 noon in the alley behind the Swiss Hut:

Red Paint chairman, placard chairman, assistant muckraking chairman, all assistant secretaries, cop baiters, and freshmen intimidators. Bill Leninhum will speak on "Bureaucracy and the Warmakers."

The rank and file will meet at the Union at 12:30 pm where they will be joined by sympathizers from GUQS (General Union of Quebec Students), the You de Em, CNTU, CUPE, MAUT, NDP, YCL, ASUS, CORE, SNCC, OQAA, EXPO, SANE, MENSA, QLB and John from the TUCK shop.

See YOU there.

Open meeting damns everything

A near-fatal blow was struck yesterday against the students who favour a policy of open recruitment on campus.

An open meeting held in the University Centre overwhelmingly rejected any notion to allow the war-mongers to set foot in the Placement Service Building in the search for co-conspirators in their war against humanity.

This open meeting of the McGill Daily Worker managing board marked a turning point in the history of that journal. Until this meeting, Daily Workerites had always been interested in politics, almost to the point of being apathetic. Yesterday, they took a decisive step in the direction of freedom and in the name of progress.

Ally Albumin, who chaired the meeting, took the lead by suggesting that it was the duty and responsibility of the Daily Worker to take the initiative on this important issue.

"We are there to educate — to mould student opinion. Many of our fellow students are not aware of the truths of the Viet-nam situation. It is in their interest that we present the facts to them."

Mark Robroy, another member of the managing board, spoke next. In moving that certain companies be expelled from campus, Robroy said, "It is as Mc-Patrick would have wished it."

The motion was seconded by Pierre Fornicate, who added,

(continued on page 4)

MAR 8 1968

PERIODICALS

Fee hike today

HALIFAX (CRAP) — Officials at the Nova Scotia Agriculture College announced Tuesday that fees will be raised $100.

Principal O.L.D. McDonald said the hike was necessitated by the increased costs in tractors, threshers and books. The Students' Council has been called into emergency session to decide whether they should boycott classes, demonstrate or burn the two-year-old college down.

The president of CUS, Hugh Armweak, called the move a deliberate attempt to raise the fees while the students were busy studying for exams. "This only goes to further show the growing necessity for Free Education in Canada", said Armweak.

But while the people in high places made meaningless statements some students were taking action. A militant group of students began a sit-in in the barn. The group's leader Mayo T. Sang, a third year fertilizer student, said "this place stinks and we mean to do something about it". He called upon the other 12,197 students to join the 15 of them in the protest.

The group led by Sang, who are calling themselves Committee Against Rising Prices (CARP) immediately issued a set of conditions which would have to be met by Thursday at 3 PM or else "we will have a barn-fire".

Isn't that just fascinating?

Classified

These ads may be placed in our advertising office in the Union and, if you're really lucky, we may put them in the paper too. Not, of course, if you happen to represent one of those immoral war companies like Hawker Siddeley, in which case the deadline is 12 noon to three seconds after 12 noon Sundays only at P. Wong's house. Rates: three consecutive insertions $1.50. For war companies, $12.50. Maximum 20 words. For war companies two words.

FOUND

COPY OF "Trotsky and McGill" Phone B. Zannis after 9pm.

FOR SALE

DEMONSTRATION KIT. Tested in Washington, Berkeley and in front of US Consulate. Contains: Crash helmet, red paint, one brick, baseball bat, horse repellent, placards (with slogans) Liberal trade-in considered. Must be seen, Call H. Meddle.

UNIQUE RECORD OF Pete Seeger Joan Baez and the Mormon Tabernacle Choir singing protest songs outside Macy's Christmas Eve, 1961. A rare collector's item. osAI — Jean Baez Protest Songs For Grade Schoolers. $5 each. Write: Box 3477.

LOST

UPPERHAND AT MCGILL. Call H.R.R. 844-6311, Ext. 300. Will the person who stole my hanging rope please return same. Leave it at Law Building c/o P. Meyer.

REWARD. Realist Number 14. Great sentimental value. John Flakete, Daily Worker office.

PLEASE RETURN my wallet lost in Union cafeteria between Feb. 9th and March 2nd. Keep personal papers, but $400 is not replaceable.

LIBERAL ETHICS. Lost about Feb. 28th. Call H. Main.

MISCELLANEOUS

HAPPY BIRTHDAY to Bertrand from Mao, Leonid, Alexii, Vladislav, Walter and the gang.

ONLY THIRTY-SEVEN DAYS to exams and you are screwing around reading this stuff.

NEEDED DESPERATELY: Room in Union. Phone Mendel High 8-7477.

PERSONAL TO BOB COOPER and Jack Kapica: Now you know what was going on at the Chinese restaurant. Quack-quack! Number 42, hahaha.

SDU: Plenary session — Discussion of ways of invalidation of the referendum on recruitment. L132. 1:00 P.M.

NDY: Meeting to discuss our slate for the upcoming American Federal elections. L26. 1:00 P.M. MCGILL REDMAN BAND: Practice for Saturday's Anti-Viet war demonstration. Union Ballroom. 4:00 P.M.

ASSOCIATION TO END THE WAR IN VIET NAM: Presents The Dirty Dozen with Lee Marvin. L132. 7:30 P.M.

FLAKETE YOUTH: Ilike to Locke Robertson's house. Meet in front of the Union at 4:00.

ASSOCIATION TO END THE WAR IN VIET NAM: Education and research committee meeting. B24. 12:00.

MCGILL FILM SOCIETY: Series of short underground films including such obscenities as LBJ's inaugural address. All day. 8:30 P.M.

HELLENIC MOVEMENT: Official launching of drive to raise funds for Greek Communist Underground. All day. 8:30 P.M.

WINTER CARNIVAL: Meeting to discuss sleep-in at Place-des-Arts.

BLOOD DRIVE: Special session in the ballroom. All day. All proceeds go to the North Vietnamese army.

HILLEL: Meeting to discuss American imperialistic aggression in the Six Day War.

MCGILL PLAYERS: Collection to finance purchase of Canadian rights to McBird.

INDEPENDENT LEFT: Meeting to consider drafting Steve Hohl for the Liberal leadership. 9 A.M.

TESTIMONIAL: Dinner for Al Tunis in recognition of all his help and assistance. Queen E. 11:30 P.M. Black-Tie.

ELECTION MEETING: Che Guevara Friendship Club. L26 at midnight.

Undemocratic...

(Continued from page 1)

to support the motion. "Anyone who votes against this motion," said the President of the Students Society, "is a Nazi or a fascist or a Randist or all three." Waffle stated that "opposition to this motion is obviously inspired by Marcus R. Kunian."

Daily Worker editor Peter All-knight, who does not have a vote, pointed out that "most students are violently opposed to this illegal and immoral war". He called for council to give every student the opportunity to show his disgust with "Dow, CIL and the whole conglomeration of war companies".

Nicole Leduck (Women's Union) called upon council to hold the demonstration to "show the city that unlike our Board of Governors we do not wish to make any money from this war".

The opposition to the motion was based on the results of last week's recruiting referendum which called for open recruiting. The referendum was originally to be held this Friday but Stu-

(Continued on page 2)

BULL-WEEVILS

by John

The Parts that Were Left out of the Board of Governors Story

(Ed. note: the following article was written for publication with the startling expose of the immoral and unjust war profiteering activities of members of this university's Board of Governors printed in this column last week. Because of space limitations we were unable to print the article in its entirety. This is the conclusion to the recent history of the Establishment warlords at McGill. We make no moral judgements, rather, we prefer to let the facts speak for themselves.)

In the first part of this article we described how certain members of this "academic community" were directly involved in making profit from the illegal and immoral war of United States aggression in Vietnam. We now turn to a different kind of complicity — indirect association.

In a small, grey office in Place Ville Marie sits Jason M.K. Rhodes, foreign sales manager for the mammoth Uptight Toilet Tissue Company empire. He is in charge of sales to the American Forces. He is also H. Locke Robertson's second cousin on his wife's side and he has a brother who once shook E.P. Taylor's hand. He is supplying toilet paper to American soldiers. He is helping to comfort them as they shoot innocent Viet Cong.

The strange tale of Mr. Rhodes has a few more twists too. His wife's uncle's sister in law has a friend who is assistant secretary to the brother of the Chibougamau and district sales manager for Dow Chemical. We could go on like this for pages, but it would serve no further purpose. The lines of power are demonstrated to be tightly interlocked and the men who run this university hold the puppet strings.

And, while we think of it, fuck.

Now that you are shocked and feel a desperate need to read on, we feel it is our duty to inform you that the above line is only satire and has no basis in fact. It's a startling comment on American society when people begin to believe things like that.

Leaving Mr. Rhodes to wallow in the filth of his own immorality, we now move to the plush Toronto head office of Goodyear Rubber, manufacturers, principally, of prophylactic devices which are sold to the American Army for prevention of disease. In an unofficial count, we found that at least four members of the McGill Board of Governors have Goodyear tires on their big, black, immoral Cadillacs and five have complimentary Goodyear windshield scrapers sitting on their dash boards. (To find this out, we had to break into several cars. However, when searching out immorality and illegality, when researching for facts on the evil men who infringe upon our rights as free students, breaking and entering is a minor matter indeed.)

Furthermore, Chancellor Howard I. Ross's cleaning lady has a brother who knows a guy whose great aunt once sat beside an official of Hawker Siddeley on a flight from Toronto to Montreal (Air Canada flight 304, Viscount. Source: Air Canada flight records Vol. 97 No. 42 pp. 248-249). And this same official told his seat companion that while in Toronto he had shaken hands with Brian Conacher, a hockey player for the Toronto Maple Leafs.

Conacher's history is interesting, to say the least. He once played hockey for the University of Western Ontario who play the Redmen twice each season. While with Western he met McGill's athletics director Harry Griffiths during a game at McGill. Griffiths, a notorious conservative reactionary, is, of course, an associate of Locke Robertson who is closely associated with Chancellor Ross. (At this point, stop reading, go back to the beginning of the paragraph preceding this one and start reading again.) Pretty revealing, isn't it?

Fuck.

Having re-kindled your interest with the above paragraph, we now turn to the real icing on the cake: companies like Tampax, Kotex and the like which supply sanitary napkins to millions of American women are also profiting from the immoral war. It goes like this: because most of their husbands are over in Vietnam mercilessly slaughtering every North Vietnamese who even points a gun at them, fewer women in the United States are getting pregnant, thus they are menstruating to a greater degree and the sales of sanitary napkins are soaring. (Source: Tampax Co. Annual report Vol. 98 No. 1 p. 250; 1943. Recent figures not available.)

This is pretty startling. Most people believe that needless bleeding is confined to the Viet Cong. Not so, as the above statistic shows. Where does the McGill Board of Governors fit in here? They are directly implicated:

Every member of the McGill Board of Governors has a wife. Some have daughters. Nothing further need be said.

As an appropriate ending to this brief but revealing description of the immoral activities of the men who make the decisions that affect us so greatly, we feel it is only appropriate that we pass on this gem: While visiting the Australian pavilion at Expo last summer we overheard two Americans talking to each other.

"Who was that lady I saw you with last night?" said one to the other.

"That was no lady, that was my wife," the other quipped.

A sad comment indeed on the American condition, even if the joke was rather funny.

Win a

KGB SCHOLARSHIP

- Applicants must be fluent in English, Russian and Urdu
- be able to provide recommendations from at least three persons currently on U.S. immigration blacklist
- have elementary knowledge of riot psychology (helpful but not necessary). We will train you.
- provide own paint and placards.

BUY A SHARE IN YOUR FUTURE — WRITE NOW TO:

3655 Ontario Street
Montreal. Phone 843-5901

What's What

SDU DEMONSTRATION

The Association at McGill to End the War in Vietnam will sponsor a demonstration tomorrow at 12 noon. The following officials are asked to meet in the secret place at the secret time in order to ensure that the fascist paranooids don't get wind of the activities: Assistant hecklers, inner guard, outer guard, further-outer-guard, inside dope men, outside dopemen, and Ottawa organizers. Don't forget to give the secret password.

LAUNDRY COMMITTEE

All members are reminded to submit their briefs before the deadline tonight at 7.30 pm. There will be a meeting at the Quick Coin Washateria tomorrow at 1 pm to discuss problems relating to stains. General topic will be "The Nature and Function of the Bowel Movement". Bowel Movement was an 18th century organization of fascist subversives in Ugandistan. They later became known as "Shit Disturbers Unlimited." (SDU)

IMPEACH PAT BURNS COMMITTEE

There will be a meeting of the Central Committee in L-1047 today at 3 pm. All members are reminded of the sit-in at the CKGM studios Saturday. A teach-in on the real meaning of "CKGM" will be held concurrently. All members are also reminded of the important vote on further action in the Impeach Burns issue. Members favorable to Burns are requested not to attend.

REFERENDUM DATES COMMITTEE

Important meeting in the Union boiler room today at 1 pm. Action will be discussed on planning dates for referenda on campus so that they do not interfere with the activists winning.

Winter carnival
Winter Carnival starts tomorrow. The Beatles will entertain.

Dow blasted . . .

(Continued from page 1)

way. It is a known fact that democracy cannot be achieved through hysterical mob action like referenda."

SDU in announcing its co-sponsorship of the demonstration will issue a pamphlet today entitled "This paper contains obscene libel!" Beside the names of the SDU leaders, the paper will feature several articles on the nature and function of the University.

"The purpose of the paper" said SDU Charman Stan Blackanwhite, "is to acquaint the campus with a thoughtful view of the problem and a balance of opinion so the campus can make up its mind like us."

Highlight articles will be The Right Is Wrong by Stephen Hohl; Nazi Randists in our Midst by Philosophy professor Broken and McGill; LBJ and Marcus R. Kunian Stink: a Trilogy by the SDU Education Committee.

This space was reserved for an advertisement from Hawker Siddoley. Unfortunately, the copy was lost somewhere and we just can't find it. These things happen . . .

Public Address

This special issue of Public Address was prepared by the managing board and is intended strictly as satire.

Staff

Editor-in-Chief.....H. Ian Schachter
Executive Editor.....John Skinner
Managing Editor.....Martin Shapiro
Associate Editor.....Marcus R. Kunian
Business Manager.....Larry Mlynowski

Special thanks to Dick Pomerantz, Liz Macpherson and Marian shear.

All names and stories are fictional as in the real campus daily.

Redmen stink up court

by MIKE BONE

An overpowering stench arose last night from the basketball court at Queen's, spread over that swinging cemetery with lights known as Kingston and slowly diffused throughout southern Ontario and eastern Quebec.

Underwhelming attack

The Redman attack was underwhelming to say the least. The team only knows one play and their inability to execute it still leaves this writer dumbfounded. On the few occasions where the ball was passed to a man in position the various players took turns in showing how not to shoot. I would have thought they were all drunk and were unable to focus upon the basket if I had not accompanied the team on the trip from Montreal.

The big team was tense as it took the floor for pre-game practice. The hoopsters were 15 point underdogs according to Roscoe and rightly so. The red and white were playing for the OQAA championship in Kingston, a city which has not been the scene of a Redman victory since Danny Trevictim was a freshman.

This reporter has always believed that the Redman would walk away from their opponents if the latter didn't always play unfair and cover our team when we're on offence. My suspicions were correct. The Redman were hot in practice, rarely missing a shot, and a guy can recall casually mentioning to a fan that if the McGillians could play that well in the game they might lose by only 6 to 8 points.

Unbelievable start

The Redman got off to an unbelievable start missing their first twelve shots. Their "attack" was featured by atrocious shooting, faulty ballhandling, poor passing and lethargic rebounding. A guy can recall, thinking to himself, that it was impossible for any team to play that poorly for an entire game. Give them the Richard Nixon award for persistency. They did it. In fact they astounded the onlookers by playing a brand of ball that gradually deteriorated.

The Mooney Question

Coach Mooney stayed with his starting team through most of the game for one or more of the following reasons:

- a) He wanted them to work up a sweat;
- b) He was asleep on the bench;
- c) He had a bet on Queens;
- d) If that was the best his starters could do it was no use trying the subs;
- e) Harry Griffiths had a bet on Queens;
- f) He suddenly turned nice guy and did not want to hurt anybody's feelings;
- g) Rocke Robertson had a bet on Queens.

It was certainly this writer's belief that the fellows warming the bench could have done no worse. In fact it was inhumane to force them to sit on the bench and watch their teammates masquerade as basketball players. There was less torture in Nazi Concentration Camps.

COACH TOM MOONEY . . . "and we find that when we fill our basketballs with hot air, they bounce higher. And the fancy printing tends to confuse the opposition."

Start with Hurley

When evaluating the game you have to, as always, start with Steve Hurley. Hurley has not played up to his potential this season and for the red and white to be victorious he had to turn in a superlative performance. Hurley stank up the court. He unveiled a new defensive concept in his attempt to cover Peter Scobie, the Gaels tremendous forward. Hurley continually stayed fifteen to twenty feet from his man, avoiding him like the plague. Scobie potted 24 points and held Hurley to 37.

Sheldon "the shot" Zimmer has certainly played far below his usual all-star form in the Redman encounters this year. Yesterday the shot regained his old-time form. It was hard to determine if he was playing more like he did in 1958 or like in 1959 but one thing was certain. Zimmer played like a public school cager. A measley 22 points was Zimmer's contribution for the night.

With a lot of hard work the Redman could be a really good team. The potential is there believe it or not. There is no excuse for yesterday's performance.

The McGill Redman were unbelievably lucky that they did triumph 102-81.

Wednesdays Whinnings — Never take a train to Kingston . . . The journey to the game was one of the worst trips I've been on . . . "Night Train" had a hot pair of hands yesterday . . . Would you believe that in the post game celebration I drank only coke . . . Would you believe Pepsi?

Speaker

by SAM BOSSEY

Prime Minister Pearson reiterated "his government's" "support for the . . . United States . . . aggression . . . in Viet-Nam."

The Prime Minister was speaking before a capacity audience in the Union Ballroom yesterday at lunch hour. Pearson has already tendered his resignation as leader of the Liberal party as he felt he was out of touch with the youth of this country.

Pearson's speech covered many areas but like his government's policies never really attacked the problems. Pearson waffled about Viet-Nam, Federal-Provincial relations, the leadership campaign, his government's recent defeat in the House of Commons and the growing disenchantment of the nation's youth with the Liberal party.

After the speech one student was heard to mutter, "what a bunch of bull."

Open meeting damns . . .

(Continued from page 1)

"this will be a great victory against Trudeau and his alliance of government bigots and big business."

Ex-officio board members, Flakete and Wilsin abstained from the voting after challenging the managing board's jurisdiction in such matters.

The other managing board member, Peter Allknight, did not speak because he was unable to capture the attention of meeting chairman Albumin. Nevertheless, he went along with the others in the voting